A WORD ON STRAY DOGS

Floyd Holt has asked us to help clear up some misconceptions about the procedures used by Gallaudet Security to catch stray dogs on the campus. Two cages are baited with food to entice the dogs. As a dog passes over the entrance, he triggers a latch and encages himself without any physical harm.

The Washington Animal Rescue League is then called to pick up the animal who is kept for five days at the shelter before being put up for sale. The Washington Animal Rescue League is located at 71 "O" Street, N.W. and can be reached by calling 667-5730.
